WIFE OF JAILED MAN SUES F. O. E. FOR $520 LOSSES

Growing out of a quarrel with the Eagles Lodge, Aerie 685, Circleville, Mrs. Audrey George, Ashville Route 2, filed suit in Common Pleas Court, Friday, charging that her husband, Charles, had spent $520 "in various schemes and games of gambling" conducted by the local lodge.

In her judgment suit, in which both the local lodge and the State Aerie at Springfield are named as defendants, Mrs. George asks for $1,020, the $520 spent and $500 exemplary damages. She claims the state lodge in Springfield benefited from operation of the local gambling devices.

Charges of wilful destruction of property were filed against George last February 24 by trustees of the lodge, who claimed that George had broken windows and damaged the bar in their club rooms on East Main Street. George was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail by Mayor William B. Cady. Following George's commitment Bernard Nebel, a brother-in-law from Columbus, filed charges against trustees of the lodge, maintaining they were exhibiting games of chance in their lodge. The trustees, Mayor Cady, Service Director Leonard Morgan and Earl Radcliff, were sent before the grand jury where the case was thrown out.

London Asked To Supply Capital With Data On Sinkings

WASHINGTON, May 9—Sen. Walsh (D) Mass., chairman of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee, today threw his support to the Tobey anti-convoys resolution as administration leaders and non-interventionists battled over reports of the amount of shipping losses in the Atlantic.

While Walsh declared that in fairness to the country the congress should be permitted to pass on the use of convoys, Sen. George (D) Ga., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, called on Great Britain to reveal the loss of American war materials by Nazi submarines and surface raiders.

As the bitter convoy fight flared anew, 25 American cargo ships, totalling some 200,000 tons, were added to President Roosevelt's 200,000 ton shipping pool to aid Great Britain. The Maritime Commission approved a charter agreement for transfer of the vessels by the Alcoa Steamship Co. of New York to Canadian interests, under Canadian registry.

To Be Used in West

The charter, however, limits use of the ships to Western Hemisphere waters for carrying cargoes, chiefly sugar, bauxite, oil and miscellaneous supplies between this country, South America and Canada.

Transfer of the ships was disclosed after Sen. Tobey (R) N. H., author of the anti-convoys resolution, charged in the senate that the President "gagged" administration officials to keep the "facts" regarding Britain's shipping losses from the people. Tobey referred to testimony before the Senate Foreign Committee by Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the Maritime Commission, that only eight out of 205 ships clearing U. S. ports for the United Kingdom were sunk from December 30, 1940 to March 31, 1941.

"These official figures were available to the President and his cabinet members and yet, for the last several weeks, they have hidden them from the people," Tobey charged. As the controversy over the (Continued on Page Three)

RUSSIANS BREAK WITH TWO LANDS HELD BY REICH

LONDON, May 9—Soviet Russia today granted belated recognition to Germany's conquest of Norway and Belgium by severing diplomatic relations with both countries.

An Exchange Telegraph Dispatch from Moscow said the step was taken because neither Norway nor Belgium is any longer a "sovereign state."

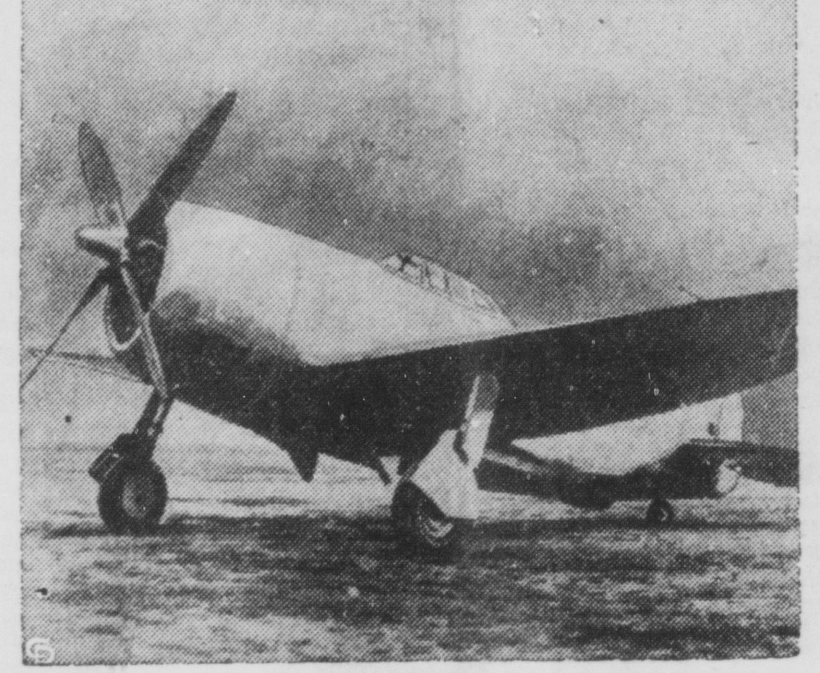

The step was interpreted in London as indicating closer collaboration between Soviet Russia and Germany. There was some speculation, however, as to whether Josef Stalin, newly named as Russia's premier, was soothing Adolf Hitler because of the latter's military position or whether some new deal was involved whereby Moscow would profit in the middle east.

The Norwegian and Belgian ministers in Moscow indicated they would leave immediately.

IRAQI OPPOSITION TO EMPIRE FAILING

BUDAPEST, May 9—Iraq troops surrounding Senesebanah Airport were cut off from Baghdad today by British destruction of a bridge over the Euphrates River near Fallujah.

CAIRO, May 9—Iraqi troops have withdrawn from the Habbaniyah area to Ramadi and Fallujah, and British patrols are following them closely, a British communique said today.

LONDON, May 9—Free French sources in London reported today that Germany is now demanding all of Syria as a base for Nazi attacks on Crete and Cyprus and later against the Suez Canal. The territory will be invaded unless Vichy consents to cooperate, these sources said.

General Henri Dentz, commander-in-chief in Syria, has long-standing orders from Chief of State Marshal Henri Philippe Pétain to defend the country against all invasion in collaboration with Arab tribes.

LONDON, May 9—While the situation in Iraq remained unchanged overnight, the "German clique" in the Baghdad government of Rashid Ali Beg Gailani was represented today as losing its control over the Iraq regime.

British sources said this development resulted from successful British military action and veiled threats by Turkey, Iran and Arabia to break off diplomatic and economic relations with Iraq unless the Baghdad regime restores peace immediately.

Reports Not Confirmed

Although reports that Premier Rashid Ali has fled from Baghdad were still not confirmed, it was felt in official British circles that the situation now developing will force his departure, if it has not already occurred.

Latest military reports from Iraq indicate the British forces captured six howitzers and a number of armored cars and trucks—all equipment which can be used against the Iraqi troops that have (Continued on Page Three)

Defense Project Materials In Room Directly Under Scene

DEARBORN, Mich., May 9—An eight-inch long cylinder-like paper bomb, loaded with black powder and believed of sufficient strength to demolish a building of the Ford Motor Company where invaluable defense project dies are housed, was inadvertently discovered today in a locker by a Ford factory foreman.

Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation raced to the plant from the Detroit office of the bureau to examine the missile and take charge of the investigation.

The bomb was about an inch and a half in diameter. It was made by rolling several sheets of wrapping paper together. Inside the cylinder was the black powder. An 18-inch long slow-burning fuse lead from one end and both ends were sealed with white adhesive tape.

Wire, similar in appearance to wire used to string musical instruments, was tied around the cylinder and about this was wrapped more paper which appeared to have been soaked in some chemical. This solution was not immediately determined. It gave off a peculiar odor.

Workers in the department were immediately subjected to questioning. The unit where they are employed is the most vital in the entire defense production set-up of the Ford company which has approximately $155,000,000 in defense orders.

Valuable Dies Menaced

It was believed the bomb was placed in the locker on the balcony floor shower room between the hours of 2 and 5 a. m. The room is over a section of the building where the valuable and practically irreparable defense dies are housed.

Janitors in the department had checked the locker rooms at the regular change of shifts at 11:20 last night. A second routine check was made at approximately 2:10 a. m. Nothing was seen on this occasion, it was said. However, at 5:30 o'clock this morning, a foreman entered the rooms and inadvertently opened the locker and saw the bomb.

Company officials immediately called the Detroit office of the FBI while they kept all workmen from the section of the building.

BRITISH CRUISER SINKS NAZI SEA RAIDER IN EAST

In addition, 53 German crew members who survived the attack were taken prisoner. The Cornwall was slightly damaged, the admiralty said, but its fighting efficiency was not impaired.

ITALIANS CLAIM PLANE VICTORY

Five British Warships Hit By Bombs In Western Mediterranean

ROME, May 9—With at least five British warships reported blasted, Italy today claimed victory in one of the greatest air versus warship fights of the war.

Direct torpedo and bomb hits, according to an Italian announcement, were scored on one and possibly two battleships, one aircraft carrier, two cruisers, one destroyer, and three merchantmen out of a huge convoy trapped by planes in the western Mediterranean.

Sixteen British airplanes were reported shot down, while five Italian craft were lost.

In the Aegean, the communique added, another cruiser was set afire and listed heavily, and two additional steamers were hit by aerial torpedoes—thus bringing a single day's toll to six or seven British warships and five freighters.

Italy also announced occupation of the Aegean Islands of Samos and Phurni. (Samos previously was reported occupied by the Germans.)

SCARLET FEVER STRIKES FOURTH DARBY FAMILY

Scarlet fever in the Darby Township School district spread to a fourth family Friday with county health officers quarantining Hilda Jane Creamer, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Creamer of Darby.

Others quarantined are Robert Riddle, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Y. Riddle of Darby Township, Charles Stage, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Stage of Darby Township and Marilyn Williams, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Williams, Mt. Sterling RFD.

Twenty-eight pupils in the first grade at Darby Township are scheduled to return to school Monday after being sent home Tuesday and placed under verbal quarantine by Dr. Blackburn. The health commissioner said pupils in the school were being checked daily and that he will be at the school Monday morning to determine whether or not first grade classes will be resumed.

cause a surprise when and if announced. The only official clue to the total craft used was an admission that ten British planes were lost.

Meanwhile, Britain counted a steadily rising toll of German machines shot down over Britain. Since Wednesday, at least fifty Nazi machines have paid the price of assaulting this country's newly improved defense and air fighting units.

Ports Bear Brunt

Hamburg and Bremen, the most vital ports for Germany's overseas trade, bore the brunt of the Royal Air Force attack. Strong opposition was encountered, but in spite of anti-aircraft fire and resistance from luftwaffe fighters, the British planes dropped high explosive bombs which caused widespread destruction.

Scarlet fever in the Darby Township School district spread to a fourth family Friday with county health officers quarantining Hilda Jane Creamer, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Creamer of Darby.

The girl became ill in school Wednesday and was taken home by Health Commissioner A. D. Blackburn. After examination Friday, Dr. Blackburn said she had a mild case of the disease.

Others quarantined are Robert Riddle, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Y. Riddle of Darby Township, Charles Stage, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Stage of Darby Township and Marilyn Williams, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Williams, Mt. Sterling RFD.

Twenty-eight pupils in the first grade at Darby Township are scheduled to return to school Monday after being sent home Tuesday and placed under verbal quarantine by Dr. Blackburn. The health commissioner said pupils in the school were being checked daily and that he will be at the school Monday morning to determine whether or not first grade classes will be resumed.

OHIO ASSEMBLY REFUSES STAND ON LINDBERGH

COLUMBUS, May 9 — Despite efforts to put members on record, the House today refused to take a stand on Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's stand in the present war crisis.

The latest resolution, introduced by two Republican members and commending Lindbergh for "his unselfish and patriotic attitude," was sent by the House this morning to its reference committee, "graveyard" of the lower chamber.

Luftwaffe Hits Many Areas In England; Heavy Toll Of Aircraft Claimed

BERLIN, May 9—German officials today confirmed that industrial damage and "considerable casualties" resulted from last night's heavy British air attacks on Hamburg and Bremen.

Planes flying over Berlin struck 150 miles farther east to Posen, in former Poland—making a total round trip for the night of 1,500 miles.

LONDON, May 9 — Gigantic swarms of British bombers—the largest squadrons ever used against the Reich—"blitzed" the major cities of Adolf Hitler's Germany early today.

Berlin, Hamburg, Bremen and Emden were among the cities attacked by long-distance bombers which included the latest imports from the United States.

HULL, Eng., May 9—School-children were evacuated from the Humber area of England today following the second night in succession of terrific bombing by the German air force. Meanwhile, Britain counted a steadily rising toll of German machines shot down over Britain. Since Wednesday, at least fifty Nazi machines have paid the price of assaulting this country's newly improved defense and air fighting units.

Of this number, 12 were shot down last night alone.

Ports Bear Brunt

Hamburg and Bremen, the most vital ports for Germany's overseas trade, bore the brunt of the Royal Air Force attack. Strong opposition was encountered, but in spite of anti-aircraft fire and resistance from Luftwaffe fighters, the British planes dropped high explosive bombs which caused widespread destruction.

Several Vital Measures Held Up As Legislature Tries To Adjourn

LEADERS APPROVE DELAY

Uniform Traffic Measure One Of Those Being Sought By Assembly

COLUMBUS, May 9—Because several vital bills have been caught in a legislative log-jam, sessions of the 94th General Assembly will be extended into next week, Republican majority leaders in the Senate and House decided today.

The agreement was reached after it appeared certain that several measures on the administration "must" list could not possibly be enacted in time to permit adjournment at the week-end. These bills include:

The biennial general appropriations measure, passed by the House with provisions for expenditures totaling $551,867,399 in 1941-42, increased to $552,706,159 by the Senate. The House refused to concur in the $538,760 increase, and the bill is now in the hands of a conference committee.

The Reiners-Whitmore-Hoffman bill to revise the state's unemployment compensation laws, passed by the Senate with provisions granting labor increased benefits of approximately $7,500,000, and $16,000,000 in payroll tax reductions for the benefit of employers, this measure is pending before a House judiciary subcommittee which has undertaken to insert amendments required by the state and federal unemployment compensation bureaus.

The Nickels-Hughes mine law reodification bill, designed to enact rigid safety regulations to prevent future Ohio mine disasters. Passed by the Senate with the safety provisions intact, the measure is before another House judiciary subcommittee where, officials of the United Mine Workers charge, attempts are being made by operators' representatives to "scuttle" vital sections.

The Hoffman uniform traffic bill, passed by the Senate and almost entirely re-drafted by the House, which added 20 pages of amendments. The Senate rejected the amendments, and the measure now rests in a conference committee.

In addition, several other highly meritorious measures, passed by one house or the other, still await completion of the legislative process. These include the bill drafted by Sen. James Metzgerbaum (D-Cleveland) to create an institutional building authority empowered to issue $12,000,000 in bonds for the construction of hospitals for the insane, feeble-minded and epileptics of the state who cannot gain admission to existing institutions because of overcrowded conditions.

This bill has been passed by the Senate and recommended out for passage by the House judiciary committee, but has not yet come up for a vote in the lower chamber.

Lancaster's fire chief, Charles M. Kraft, married in Circleville on July 10, 1919, is asking for a divorce from his wife, Cora. In his petition filed in the Fairfield County Common Pleas Court, Kraft charges his wife with extreme cruelty, claiming that at one time the defendant threatened to kill him. He asks that Mrs. Kraft be given custody of their minor children and set the amount he shall pay each week for their support.

PETITIONS SEEK CHANGE IN OHIO CITY OPERATION

WASHINGTON C. H., May 9—Opponents of the city manager form of government here are circulating petitions asking that a change to the old form of municipal government be made.

Movement to bring back the municipal form of government is being led by M. S. Tracey, who reports that fourteen petitions have been drawn, but so far only part of these have been placed in circulation.

First of the petitions were started in circulation the first of the week. No action can be taken until 510 names have been secured. Tracey was a member of the city council in 1914-15. He said he had employed Attorney R. M. Winegardner to draw up the petitions proposing the change in city government but that he was acting not only for himself but for others whose names he did not reveal.

A letter just received from our baseball league pitcher, Jay Gregg out in Washington, Pa., said that he had pitched five innings in one game and gave two hits and that's not so bad for a start. And while on baseball, we mention that Al Kauber, our coach here for a few years, led his high school baseball team up at Radnor, Delaware County, to the ball championship for that county—Al, here as a basketball coach, had a good sized string of winnings to his and his team's credit. Saturday is Field Day over at New Holland and our school lads and lassies are expecting to get their good share of the winnings. With $500 in the park fund, we feel quite sure that a way will be found to make that fine play spot what it should be for the coming Summer season.

With the rear seat of his automobile all piled and stacked up with a lot of goods, and the license plate on his machine lettered yellow telling about Georgia state's peaches, a better chance couldn't be found to unload a part, at least, of "the third" on a nice appearing gentleman. And this, we did. Found that his real home is in Jacksonville, Florida, where he has three sons in business. He is a sign writer and carries with him for sale a brush for this writing and different from any other on the market. Small retail merchants are his last customers, he told us. And along with his sign writing talk, told us a lot about the thousands of acres of fine peaches Georgia state markets each year.

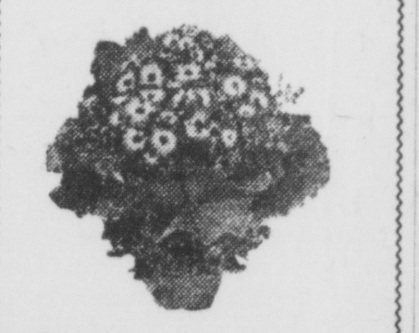

Word direct from the home is that Orville Newton, stricken a few days ago with paralysis is some improved. And that Sara Fraley and Walt Zwayner, both in Columbus hospitals, are "about the same"—critically ill.

Daniel Hall, 83, with his wife and daughter, Mrs. Foht and a friend Mrs. Elizabeth Moffet, of Bement, Ill., were guests yesterday at the home of Doctor and Mrs. Gardner.

At the same time, it was revealed that 200 June graduates of Ohio State University will be affected by the War Department's announcement that 8,000 young officers will be called to active duty as second lieutenants this summer on graduation from college and completion of training in the R.O.T.C. Actual service in training camps for the new officers is expected to begin about July 1.

MANIAC SLAYS GIRL AND FLEES WITH HOSTAGE

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., May 9—A gigantic manhunt was underway today in the mesquite desert country of southern California for a homicidal maniac who shot his 19-year-old sister-in-law to death, perhaps fatally wounded her girl companion and then kidnaped his own brother.

Heavily armed posses, ready to shoot on sight, were assigned to hunt the killer, identified as Albert Wells, 31, undersized, deformed ex-convict on parole. As the search got under way, officers expressed belief that Wells might harm his brother, Raymond Wells.

The slaying occurred late Wednesday night, on the desert in San Bernardino County, near Devore. Wells, according to officers, without provocation murdered his sister-in-law, Mrs. Jean Wells, 19, of San Bernardino, then turned his gun on Miss Rose Destree, 17.

Wells then placed in the arms of the dead woman her 13-month-old daughter, climbed into his coupe, and returned to San Bernardino, where he was believed to have kidnaped Raymond Wells, and dropped from sight.

The baby was unharmed. The story of the murder of Mrs. Wells was told by the Destree girl, who crawled a quarter of a mile for aid after Wells wounded her in the abdomen and fled, apparently believing that she, too, was dead.

Miss Destree said that Wells blamed his mother and Mrs. Wells because his half-sister, with whom he had been living, refused to continue to keep house for him.

The realtor said he went to the bank and withdrew 100 fifty dollar bills and 500 ten dollar bills.

Coulson said he handed the money over to one of the men to count. Then, he continued, the "money" was returned to him in a silk handkerchief. Except that the handkerchief didn't contain the $10,000 but paper towels.

BITTER CONVOY FIGHT GOES ON IN WASHINGTON

Sen. Walsh Joins Tobey; 250 Cargo Ships Put Into British Use

Pepper, an advocate of convoys, pointed out that after Land testified before the committee, holding hearings on a house-approved bill to permit requisition of foreign ships in U. S. harbors, he issued a statement saying that "there is reason to believe that actual losses run substantially greater than reported losses."

The confusion over the figures given out by Land caused George to recommend that London furnish congress and the State Department with official figures. He said that these would help congress meet the convoy issue.

Walsh said that he cannot "conceive of any opposition to congress debating the convoy issue" in view of the President's statement that convoys mean shooting and shooting means war.

Sen. Bailey (D) N. C., chairman of the commerce committee, meanwhile, indicated that he may make a formal request of the State Department or some other official source to obtain the best possible figures on the shipping losses.

Bailey emphasized the necessity of such information as he predicted that his committee will act on the ship bill Monday. Sen. Clark (D) Mo., a non-interventionist member of the committee, announced that he will offer an amendment to the bill which would prohibit the transfer of the ships, to be purchased by this government, to Great Britain or any other belligerent.

GREYHOUND STRIKE ENDS; OPERATION IS RESUMED

COLUMBUS, May 9—Ohio employees of the Pennsylvania Greyhound Company returned to their jobs today after an agreement was reached in Washington to arbitrate demands of the unionists. Labor department spokesmen said the 1,400 striking employees and company officials agreed that any differences between the company and union which are not submitted to arbitration would be negotiated by the two sides after the arbitrator has made an award and decision.

The unionists struck last Sunday for an increase from 4 to 5 cents a mile in the pay rates for drivers and a reduction of the work week from 45 and 42 to 40 hours for maintenance and terminal workers.

John C. Getreu, president of the Columbus federation of labor, said that some of the 115 Columbus employees returned to their jobs at 11 o'clock last night. He expressed belief that Pennsylvania Greyhound system would be operating normally today. Pickets at the Columbus terminal were called off duty last night.

WAR TODAY

On the Nazi side of the ledger, heavy concentrations of Luftwaffe bombers roared over a crescent-shaped course in the heart of industrial England, extending apparently, from Hull on the North Sea to Liverpool on the Irish Channel, then south to Birmingham—a swathe which would include in its deadly sweep the industrial towns of Sheffield, Manchester, Nottingham, Derby and Coventry. The south of England was also visited and London had a raid its 560th of this war.

Interesting is the summary issued by the British authorities of losses in the stepped-up air fighting. Royal Air Force estimates are that a total of 86 Nazi bombers have been downed this month up to and including last night's fighting, a record bag for 1941. Of these a total of 50 were destroyed during the last three nights. Eighty-six bombers downed would mean that about 350 airmen of the Luftwaffe have fought their last fight. Pilots are even harder to produce than planes.

Of the total of Nazi planes claimed bagged by the British, nearly ninety percent were shot down by "night fighters," a hush-hush type of ship that did not exist a year ago. Both sides have them now, and rumors are widespread as to the secret devices on which their power to see hostile airplanes in darkness is founded.

Undoubtedly research is being pressed feverishly and many new things are being done with infra-red devices that can pierce the gloom without being visible themselves.

YOUNG KIDNAPER LOSES PLEA FOR HIS PAROLE

COLUMBUS, May 9—The state pardon and parole commission today refused to parole John J. Deitch, who in April, 1938, kidnaped and robbed an Ohio Wesleyan University couple at Delaware. His case was continued to the May, 1942, hearing. Deitch, now 21, entered the Ohio Reformatory May 24, 1938, to serve three concurrent sentences for kidnaping and robbery. He admitted forcing Charles Hopkins, 20, of Lansing, Mich., and Clara Mae Kerr, 22 of Steubenville, to drive him from Delaware to Marion, where he forced Hopkins from the car, returned to Delaware and released Miss Kerr unharmed. He was arrested at his Columbus home.

John C. Getreu, president of the Columbus federation of labor, said that some of the 115 Columbus employees returned to their jobs at 11 o'clock last night. BERLIN, BREMEN, EMDEN BLASTED BY GREAT FORCE

Germans Admit Damages; Newest American Ships Employed By RAF

There were no details of the damage wrought in Berlin beyond announcement that the capital, as well as Emden and other targets in northwestern Germany, had been attacked.

Shipping off the Nazi coast and along the Norwegian fjords was pummeled by bombs. Off Norway, a large escort vessel was set afire and was last seen down at the stern.

Air craft of the coastal command attacked the German submarine base at St. Nazaire.

Incendiary bombs in the tens of thousands were poured on the German targets, while hundreds of tons of high explosives were dropped.

Terrific fires and destruction were reported particularly at Hamburg and Bremen, where submarine shipyards were singled out.

Perfect moonlit weather facilitated the attacks. Anti-aircraft fire and German fighter planes failed to prevent the British pilots from streaming over their targets in a constant procession to discharge their heavy loads.

Some pilots said that areas were so completely engulfed in flames that separate fires could not be distinguished. Smoke rose as high as 10,000 feet into the air.

Powerful Bombs Used The most powerful high explosive bombs in Britain's arsenal were used.

Nine of the 12 German planes destroyed during the night were shot down by night fighters, including American-built Havocs and Beau Fighters which participated in previous night's warfare that sent a record-breaking 24 German night raiders to their destruction. (Editor's Note: Capt. Harold Balfour, under secretary for air, yesterday told the House of Commons that full investigation might double this figure.)

Official Figures Quoted Based strictly on official figures issued by the Air Ministry, here is the score card for German raiders shot down since dusk Wednesday: Between dusk Wednesday and dawn Thursday—24.

Between dawn and dusk Thursday—14.

Between dusk Thursday and dawn this morning—11.

Total—49. The Air Ministry said that last night's Nazi raids were on a heavy scale with the Humber area and two districts in the northern midlands the principal objectives of attack.

In the Humber region damage was described as considerable and the communiqué said casualties probably were heavy. In the north midlands damage was substantial but casualties were "not expected to be numerous."

A northwestern coast town also was attacked, sustaining casualties and damage, and bombs also were dropped on other areas, chiefly eastern and southern England, including London, the Air Ministry communiqué stated.

BERLIN, May 9—British bombers attacked Hamburg and Bremen and other points in northern and northwestern Germany during the night and early today and also attempted an assault on Berlin.

An official announcement said that strong forces raided Hamburg and Bremen and that a few RAF planes penetrated the outskirts of Berlin, where they dropped some flares being forced back by anti-aircraft fire.

While these attacks were in progress, the announcement said, strong Luftwaffe formations effectively raided Sheffield, Nottingham, Derby, Plymouth and Hull in Britain.

The British planes attacking Hamburg and Bremen dropped incendiary and high explosive bombs, the high command said, but German defenses scattered the RAF formations and weakened the effect of the attack.

LEGION'S CLUB WINS APPLAUSE FROM VISITORS

The American Legion Club was officially opened Thursday evening with a large number of persons taking part in the evening's festivities.

The handsome decorations and appointments of the Club, located in the Brehmer Building at 210 North Court Street, were praised by the many visitors, the color scheme, furniture and other features making the clubrooms among the most modern in central Ohio.

One of the most interesting decorations in the rooms is an authentic reproduction of the original colonial Girondole mirror, a gift of O. D. Mader to the Legion. Thirteen burnished balls that circle the convex plate glass mirror represent the original colonies. The frame is finished in genuine gold metal leaf.

TWO YEGGS GRAB DETECTIVE, TAKE $6,054 PAYROLL

NEW YORK, May 9—Two armed men kidnaped a Burns Detective Agency operator outside the Empire State Building in midtown today, robbed him of a $6,054 payroll, drove him to Long Island City and there threw him into the street before speeding away in a black sedan.

The operator, Stanley Korzynski, had just drawn the payroll from the Manufacturers Trust Company branch in the Empire State Building and was walking to the Mangel Stores, Inc., owners of the payroll, when one of the bandits shoved a gun into his back.

Korzynski was forced into the bandit car parked at the curb, powerless to reach for his own gun. Once inside the car the payroll was taken from him and the car shot across the East River to Long Island City where he was shoved out.

These representatives also are said to have threatened that it might be necessary to sever full diplomatic relations because of their alliances with Britain and Iraq's violation of the Saadabad Pact.

SOOSE 8 TO 5 TO LIFT CROWN NOW OVERLIN'S

By Lawton Carver
NEW YORK, May 9—The odds today were 8 to 5 that Ken Overlin, pugilism's ancient mariner, will be stranded high and dry tonight by Billy Soose, of Farrell, Pa., when they tangle up before an expected $40,000 house for Overlin's New York Boxing Commission middleweight title. If this eventually works out in keeping with the experts' pre-battle forecasts Overlin can blame himself for it. No champion of recent vintage has worked an opponent into a greater rage than Soose will carry into the Madison Square Garden ring.

This is all quite on the level, and Overlin himself is in a bit of a pet at Soose to make the thing some sort of a grudge fight, or has that angle been over-worked? In any case, they stirred up each other's ill will last July when Overlin lost a heatedly disputed decision to Soose, leading to pointed remarks by both.

But the payoff, in a manner of speaking and literally, will come tonight for Overlin due to the financial arrangements under which the bout will be fought, Soose was forced to do everything but mortgage himself to get his title crack at Overlin in this return bout earned by virtue of his previous victory.

Specifically, Overlin is taking 42 1/2 percent of the net and Soose is being made to settle for 12 1/2 and on top of that had to post a $5,000 binder guaranteeing Overlin a return bout.

Incendiary bombs in the tens of thousands were poured on the German targets, while hundreds of tons of high explosives were dropped.

Terrific fires and destruction were reported particularly at Hamburg and Bremen, where submarine shipyards were singled out.

Perfect moonlit weather facilitated the attacks. Anti-aircraft fire and German fighter planes failed to prevent the British pilots from streaming over their targets in a constant procession to discharge their heavy loads.

Some pilots said that areas were so completely engulfed in flames that separate fires could not be distinguished. Smoke rose as high as 10,000 feet into the air.

Powerful Bombs Used The most powerful high explosive bombs in Britain's arsenal were used.

Nine of the 12 German planes destroyed during the night were shot down by night fighters, including American-built Havocs and Beau Fighters which participated in previous night's warfare that sent a record-breaking 24 German night raiders to their destruction.

(Editor's Note: Capt. Harold Balfour, under secretary for air, yesterday told the House of Commons that full investigation might double this figure.)

Official Figures Quoted Based strictly on official figures issued by the Air Ministry, here is the score card for German raiders shot down since dusk Wednesday: Between dusk Wednesday and dawn Thursday—24.

Between dawn and dusk Thursday—14.

Between dusk Thursday and dawn this morning—11.

Total—49.

The Air Ministry said that last night's Nazi raids were on a heavy scale with the Humber area and two districts in the northern midlands the principal objectives of attack.

In the Humber region damage was described as considerable and the communiqué said casualties probably were heavy. In the north midlands damage was substantial but casualties were "not expected to be numerous."

A northwestern coast town also was attacked, sustaining casualties and damage, and bombs also were dropped on other areas, chiefly eastern and southern England, including London, the Air Ministry communique stated.

BERLIN, May 9—British bombers attacked Hamburg and Bremen and other points in northern and northwestern Germany during the night and early today and also attempted an assault on Berlin.

An official announcement said that strong forces raided Hamburg and Bremen and that a few RAF planes penetrated the outskirts of Berlin, where they dropped some flares being forced back by anti-aircraft fire.

While these attacks were in progress, the announcement said, strong Luftwaffe formations effectively raided Sheffield, Nottingham, Derby, Plymouth and Hull in Britain.

The British planes attacking Hamburg and Bremen dropped incendiary and high explosive bombs, the high command said, but German defenses scattered the RAF formations and weakened the effect of the attack.

U. S. PROMISES TO HELP FEED FRENCH PEOPLE

WASHINGTON, May 9—Moving swiftly to counteract reported German pressure on Marshall Henri Petain to join the axis, the United States government today promised to help feed France indefinitely if the Vichy government stands firm against any modification of the armistice terms.

LEGION'S CLUB WINS APPLAUSE FROM VISITORS

The American Legion Club was officially opened Thursday evening with a large number of persons taking part in the evening's festivities.

The handsome decorations and appointments of the Club, located in the Bremher Building at 210 North Court Street, were praised by the many visitors, the color scheme, furniture and other features making the clubrooms among the most modern in central Ohio.

One of the most interesting decorations in the rooms is an authentic reproduction of the original colonial Girondole mirror, a gift of O. D. Mader to the Legion. Thirteen burnished balls that circle the convex plate glass mirror represent the original colonies. The frame is finished in genuine gold metal leaf.

and are ready for induction, sixteen have been deferred as students until July 1, and 1,861 have been placed in other classes. The local board's announcement that classification will be completed by the end of May complies with a request from state headquarters that county boards complete their classifications by then.

Next registrants to leave from the county will be Vernon Weller, North Washington Street, and Jacob Davis, Circleville Route 1, who will go to Fort Hayes next Monday as replacements on previous calls.

Harvey Leroy Johnson, of Circleville, will fill the local board's call for one colored youth on Tuesday.

Selective Service officials have received an advance notice for six men on the period beginning May 26, but no official announcement of that quota has yet been received from state headquarters.

TWO YEGGS GRAB DETECTIVE, TAKE TO LIFT CROWN

$6,054 PAYROLL NOW OVERLIN'S

NEW YORK, May 9 — Two armed men kidnaped a Burns Detective Agency operator outside the Empire State Building in midtown today, robbed him of a $6,054 payroll, drove him to Long Island City and there threw him into the street before speeding away in a black sedan.

The operator, Stanley Korzynski, had just drawn the payroll from the Manufacturers Trust Company branch in the Empire State Building and was walking to the Mangel Stores, Inc., owners of the payroll, when one of the bandits shoved a gun into his back.

Korzynski was forced into the bandit car parked at the curb, powerless to reach for his own gun. Once inside the car the payroll was taken from him and the car shot across the East River to Long Island City where he was shoved out.

Some "unimportant rioting" was reported at Basra, the sole Iraqi seaport at the top of the Persian gulf. British forces have occupied Basra's commercial buildings, banks and telegraph offices.

Non-British sources stated that representatives of Iran, Turkey and Arabia have called on the Baghdad government and informed it that economic relations must halt in view of Iraq's situation—a serious blow to Iraq's Arab commerce—unless the situation is rectified immediately.

These representatives also are said to have threatened that it might be necessary to sever full diplomatic relations because of their alliances with Britain and Iraq's violation of the Saadabad Pact.

SOOSE 8 TO 5 TO LIFT CROWN OVERLIN'S

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, May 9—The odds today were 8 to 5 that Ken Overlin, pugilism's ancient mariner, will be stranded high and dry tonight by Billy Soose, of Farrell, Pa., when they tangle up before an expected $40,000 house for Overlin's New York Boxing Commission middleweight title. If this eventuality works out in keeping with the experts' pre-battle forecasts Overlin can blame himself for it. No champion of recent vintage has worked an opponent into a greater rage than Soose will carry into the Madison Square Garden ring.

This is all quite on the level, and Overlin himself is in a bit of a pet at Soose to make the thing some sort of a grudge fight, or has that angle been over-worked?

In any case, they stirred up each other's ill will last July when Overlin lost a heatedly disputed decision to Soose, leading to pointed remarks by both.

But the payoff, in a manner of speaking and literally, will come tonight for Overlin due to the financial arrangements under which the bout will be fought, Soose was forced to do everything but mortgage himself to get his title crack at Overlin in this return bout earned by virtue of his previous victory.

Specifically, Overlin is taking 42 1/2 percent of the net and Soose is being made to settle for 12 1/2 and on top of that had to post a $5,000 binder guaranteeing Overlin a return bout.

REISER INJURED BY CRASH INTO OUTFIELD DOOR

NEW YORK, May 9—Pete Reiser, Brooklyn Dodgers' sensational rookie center fielder, who was injured in the second inning of yesterday's game with the St. Louis Cardinals when he crashed into the corrugated iron door in centerfield after a circus catch of Enos Slaughter's 400-foot wallop, will be out of the lineup for at least two days. Dr. D. A. McAttee, club physician, said today. One stitch was required to sew up a two-inch cut in the back.

OPEN LETTERS

TO COUNCIL, MERCHANTS

GENTLEMEN: For years the problem of down town parking has been before you. Petitions have been presented asking that parallel parking be eliminated on Main Street. Others have argued that the present system be extended to include Court Street. Also you have been fully aware of the double parking problem. Still, at your meeting Wednesday night, the hesitancy of some of you to express your opinions either for or against the issue, or to make any comment whatsoever about it, hints that either you are fearful of what others might think of your opinion or you have given so little thought to the question that you have no opinion. You have scheduled a meeting for next week, one at which you will attempt to work out some satisfactory solution to downtown parking. Before that meeting, why not do a little research and investigation, so that you may argue the situation reasonably. It will take less time and in the long run will bring better results.

CIRCUITEER.

TO ESSAY WINNERS

FELLOWS: To you, Gerald Reynolds, Don Wells and Ned Stout, go the honor of rating first, second and third, respectively, in the Circleville Elks essay contest. That you received cash awards was fitting, but more important both to you and to the community was the fact brought out by the text of your essays—that you have done some serious thinking on "What Uncle Sam Means to Me." Your essays indicate that you are aware of the virtues of a true democracy, freedom of speech, of the press and of religion. Now as never before it is important that you analyze carefully the extent to which those virtues exist, and that in the future you see they are not taken from you.

TO SCOUTERS

SIRS: An announcement this week indicated that your annual sustaining fund drive for $750 had passed the halfway mark and was well on its way to success. Success of the campaign will mean that you owe to those who donated money a well-rounded extensive scouting program in Circleville and Pickaway County. According to information put out by Scout headquarters, 12 percent of the fund raised goes for the organization, development and promotion of council-wide activities; 25 percent is used for membership enrollment, troop organization and supervision; 19 percent for the operation and maintenance of the Central Ohio Area Council Scout reservation; 12 percent for training volunteer, educational publicity and promotion literature; 16 percent for general supervision of District and Council activities and maintaining the standards of the Boy Scouts of America; 12 percent for registration research and statistics and 4 percent for national service.

TO COUNTY ATHLETES

YOUNGSTERS: Several major events, in addition to graduation exercises, remain on the Pickaway County school schedule prior to the close of classes. One is the big track and field meet arranged for Saturday at New Holland, another is the softball tournament to be staged May 12, 13 and 16 at Commercial Point, and the other is the district baseball tournament to be conducted in Columbus. Interest in the track and field competition has been declining in the last couple of years, but from all indications there will be many athletes competing this year. A few of the schools report that they cannot get interest in track and field events stirred up because some of the youngsters have too much work to do in the spring. The softball tournament promises to be something new with six schools competing. New Holland, winner of the county basketball tournament, won the baseball championship, and is out to make a clean sweep of sports events in the Saturday track meet. Coach Don Rittenour and his athletes are to be complimented on the fine work they have done so far this year.

CIRCUITEER.

TO ALL

FRIENDS: This is a particular time of year when sickness must be combatted more carefully than at any other time. There has been an unusual amount of sickness in central Ohio this spring, and much of it can be traced to carelessness. Sudden changes in weather in the last few weeks have made colds easy to contract, and kindred ailments have been numerous. Children who have suffered from mumps or measles should be protected so that complications do not develop. I am pleased that Health Commissioner Blackburn acted without any waste of time to prevent the spread of scarlet fever in the Darby Township district where two youngsters are ill. First grade children were sent home and ordered to stay there until the danger of a spread of the illness is ended. All should take precautions to protect health at any season of the year. We should be as careful as possible at all times, because health is something very difficult to buy once it is lost.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By— Charles P. Stewart

WASHINGTON'S public men are unified all right on the subject of national defense. They also are predominantly unified on the subject of aid-the-democracies, though there is quite a contingent that favors keeping some more or less tight strings on it. Otherwise, however, if ever I saw a time when there was so little unity in our capital than there is today, I don't remember it.

For instance, expressed opinions as to the Charles Lindbergh case are too mixed up to make heads or tails out of.

I don't think Lindbergh is a popular character. Ultra-isolationists indorse his position on the administration's foreign policy, but many, even of them, say they still don't like him personally. So, when President Roosevelt, bawled him out, not many spokesmen raised their voices in defense of him. Nevertheless, quite a few, not isolationists alone, but strong supporters of the administration, said he wrote a very effective message to the White House in resigning his colonel's commission in the army air corps.

They disagree with him entirely in the super-isolationistic position he takes, but their judgment is that he was entitled to argue for it. They say he undoubtedly is a violent specimen of an isolationist and an appeaser and that the President properly so described him but they don't feel that F. D. R. was justified in virtually classifying him as a traitor. They quote Voltaire, in answer to a political opponent, "I dissent from every word you say, but I'll fight to the death in defense of your right to say it."

POOR TASTE?
Sir Gerald Campbell, a mini-ter attached to the British embassy in Washington, didn't help matters by paning Lindbergh (he didn't mention his name but it unmistakably was Charley to whom he was referring) in a speech the other night. The White House tenant's right to express himself (up to a certain point) isn't questioned, but critics, including some very loyal administrationists, remark that it was exceedingly poor taste for a Briton to break into the controversy.

It's the consensus that President Private Secretary Steve Early scored handsomely with his query, "Does Lindbergh, besides resigning his colonelcy, intend to return the decoration he got from Herr Hitler?"

There also are administrationists who wish that Thomas W. Lamont of the house of Morgan had omitted the alarmist speech he recently made in Detroit. They're afraid it will revive talk of the part J. P. Morgan & Co. have so often been accused of playing in getting the United States into the last war.

And how's this for unity? G.O.P. National Chairman Joseph W. Martin, though a Republican, has declared for it emphatically. Discussing, as a newspaperman, the administration's plea for a "voluntary press censorship," he queried, "What's its object?" Then, "It's a device of political bureaucrats to cover up the waste, graft and inefficiency of national defense under the management of New Deal theorists."

Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt certainly is an administrationist. He doesn't predict that our emergency activities will cost us the "social reforms" we've effected in the last eight years," but he served warning in a recent talk that we mustn't let it happen. "They're democracy's cream," he declared. "I don't believe we're going to give them up—and then give our lives to defend the skimmed milk."

AND IN CONGRESS

Disunited-sounding comment is the regular thing in congress. Illustratively, a few days ago a house of representatives' committee was discussing methods for the legal acquisition of Axis ships we've commandeered in our harbors. Said Congressman Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, "It disturbs me to see us take the line that we're living in a world of burglars and might as well be burglars ourselves." Said Congressman James C. Oliver of Maine, "We take steps toward war, one by one, but haven't the nerve to declare war."

Among themselves our various defensive bureaus squabble. As a sample, considerable fault has been found with selective service for exempting or deferring so many registrants. Accordingly, it's trying to do better. Indeed, it's suggested that boys with curable physical defects be drafted for doctoring. Then, after they've been cured, as conscripted patients, they're to be militarily inducted. Now comes Director Knudsen's Office of Production Management with a loud howl that selective service is militarily grabbing so many lads that defensive industries are being crippled. OPM doesn't want SS to be so grasping. "Ten skilled tool and die makers are worth a regiment," says an OPM official.

Oh, we're united—to the extent that we seem to be falling all over one another.

Heat Rays for Aches

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

For spring muscle aches due to the sudden return of bodily activity, as well as many other conditions, heat by infra-red light rays is of great value. Of course, heat of any kind will help such muscular discomforts, fibrositis and stiff joints.

But when heat is applied to the human body, at any one area, the blood stream immediately does everything possible to distribute the heat to other parts of the body. Depth penetration to any one area is accomplished with the application of heat faster than the blood stream can carry the heat away. Infra-red rays penetrate the outer skins of the human body with little, if any, resistance. Reaching the flesh tissues, a resistance is set up, and while the penetration continues, the process of penetration is through conduction.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

With ordinary heat applications such as warming pads, hot packs and the like, which are applied to the surface of the outer skin, it will be seen that the blood stream can carry the heat to other parts of the body quite rapidly and the good effects are often temporary. When there is pain connected with afflictions of the body and the affliction is one which requires medical treatment (I refer to rheumatism, arthritis, neuritis and the like), infra-red ray treatments will do much toward relieving the pain, as the effects are soothing and numbing to the nerve ends.

Infra-red Rays
For painful congestions caused by spring chilling, it will be found that these congestions can quickly be dissipated with the application of infra-red rays. The length of time for these infra-red ray applications depends on circumstances. About forty or fifty minutes is required for a deep congestion. Remember the blood stream will distribute the heat to other parts of the body, so the treatment should be repeated every few hours.

Injuries to the body such as pulled muscles, sprains, bruises and the like are all painful depending on the extent of the injury, and while nature has provided a method of healing, it is slow and, meantime, the pain continues. The application of infra-red rays not only soothes and numbs the nerve ends, which relieves the pain, but causes the congested blood to be absorbed and put back into the blood stream, and allows new blood and nerve supply to the injured area.

It is known that from the sun there are vibrations of many different wave lengths emitted. Beginning at the short end, they are known as they progress in length as Cosmic, Gamma, Ultra-Violet, Visible or light rays, and Infra-red, which latter are better known as heat rays. While an over-dose of the short rays can be had by over-exposure of the human body to the sun's rays, it is known that many of these short rays are screened out by foreign floating matter before reaching the earth's surface.

New forms of Infra-red generator lamps are being perfected which emit vibrations of two different wave lengths at the same time and by a specially designed reflector can be concentrated on a small or large area as conditions require.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

G. J.:—"My husband has a sore on his leg about the size of a quarter. It is hard and itches extremely. It does not heal. He has had it for a long time. Ordinarily any cuts heal very quickly on him. Could you tell me what this might be?"

Answer:—It is very likely to be due to bad circulation and varicose veins. It probably will not heal until the varicose veins are obliterated.

C. M.:—"My eyelashes drop out too much. Could there be a slight infection in the hair follicles due to irritation from using mascara? If so, how could I cure it?"

Answer:—Any infection will cause the eyelashes to drop out and some people are sensitive to mascara. The way to stop it is to quit using mascara and put an antiseptic ointment on the eyelids at night or else touch the edges of the eyelids lightly with 10 percent alcohol, with a camel's hair brush.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE

TOM HAD felt quite sure that Morton Blake would make another offer to take over the island, following the hectic night when it had unwillingly offered refuge to the shipwrecked sailors. He knew that Hugh Powell had expected that, too, and when a week passed and Morton Blake had not been heard from, both Hugh and Tom were a little puzzled.

And then something happened that for a little while made them forget both Blake and the shipwreck. The boatman came over with the morning mail on a beautiful blue and gold day, and in the mail there was a telegram for Natalie.

They were all clustered together on the pier where they usually met for a sorting of the morning mail and the newspapers. Natalie ripped the telegram open immediately and they heard her little shocked, protesting gasp.

"Brooks," she exclaimed, "will you listen to this: it's from poor little Coralie Simpson. Something awful has happened. She says, 'Am in a terrible jam. Please get in touch with me the minute you get this. Am still in the hospital, but telephone the chief of police here. Please hurry.'"

She looked up at Brooks, bewildered.

"But—what in the world could have happened?" she stammered. "I don't know—but you'd better get over to the mainland as quickly as possible and telephone her. How about it, old man? Will you run us over?" Brooks addressed the boatman.

"Sure—hop in," answered the man promptly. "Anybody else want to go along?"

"Let's all go, just for the ride—that is, if Brooks and Natalie don't mind?" suggested Betsy eagerly.

Bill and Terry were going fishing; Major and Mrs. Edmonds begged off; but the others piled into the boat and it went racing for the mainland. On shore, somebody directed them to the small telephone exchange and Natalie put through her call.

There was a brief wait, and then a voice said, "Okay on your call to Richard, Mrs. Marchbanks. Go ahead, Richard."

"Hello—this Mrs. Brooks Marchbanks," demanded a rather stern voice. "This is the chief of police at Richard. You knew anything about a man and a girl calling themselves Johnny and Coralie Simpson?"

"I certainly do," answered Natalie sharply, resenting the tone. "My husband and I found them after an automobile wreck. We took them to the hospital in Richard and made ourselves responsible for their bills."

"Yeah, I know all that," agreed the chief, his tone a little more conciliatory. "But what I want to know is—did you give them a six-thousand-dollar automobile?"

"It cost eight thousand, and I certainly did. The papers were drawn up by one of the leading legal lights of your own town—began Natalie hotly.

"Okay, lady—don't get sore." The chief was amused now and friendly. "It was just that when they tried to sell the car—and nobody knew anything about 'em—"

"Are you trying to tell me that you've dared to arrest those two children?" blazed Natalie.

"We-e-e, not exactly arrest," protested the chief. "We've got a couple of fellows stationed over at the hospital. After all, when a couple of kids in a broken-down jalopy, who have to have their hospital bills paid by somebody else, suddenly turn up with an imported roadster that cost a mint of money and want to sell it—well, it doesn't make sense. And we couldn't get any trace of you people. I telephoned your place in New York and they said you were in Honolulu. After all, what else could we do?"

"You might try believing that your own lawyers know what they are doing when they draw up a transfer of ownership on an automobile," Natalie told him sharply. "And you might try using a little common sense now and then. You are going to withdraw the guard from the hospital at once, aren't you?"

"Oh, sure, sure—sorry to have troubled you," said the man, but Natalie hadn't waited for that.

She called Long Distance again, and this time got the hospital. A moment later Coralie's tear-sodden voice was saying shakily, "Oh, gosh, Mrs. Marchbanks, is that really you? I've nearly gone crazy these last two or three days. I'm awfully sorry I had to bother you, but these lugs here tried to accuse Johnny and me of stealing that old car—just because a man wanted to buy it and offered to pay four thousand dollars cash. Johnny said we could buy a filling station and pay a down payment on a bungalow and furnish it with that much money, and we'd be a couple of chumps not to sell it—"

"Coralie, darling, I'm terribly sorry," Natalie apologized swiftly. "Please forgive me for getting you into such a jam. I just got your telegram a little while ago and I called you right away. Everything will be all right now, you'll see."

"Sure, I knew it would be as soon as you could convince John Law that you really gave us the car," said Coralie, her voice steady now. "I have to admit it sounded pretty crazy to me, when I tried to tell you that you gave us the car. Nobody would believe that you could be so swell. I went around pinching myself for a week, trying to make myself believe it was all real. And the clothes are so beautiful. You ought to see me in that blue and silver broadcloth housecoat. I'm something to look at!"

"Of course you are, Coralie. I'll bet it looks lots better on you than it did on me," said Natalie warmly. "How's Johnny?"

"Oh, he's fine," answered Coralie's eager voice. "He's sitting up in bed now and the Doc says he can sit up in a chair next week, and maybe in a month we can get out of this place. Johnny's so excited about going into business for himself—and think of us having a whole house to ourselves! I never had anything but a corner of a room to myself in my life—"

"Coralie, you're breaking my heart," said Natalie, and meant it. "I'll call you again in a day or two. And you let me know if you have any more trouble—though I don't think you will. I'll telephone that lawyer and give him a good-sized section of my mind for not looking after you better."

When she had finished and hung up the telephone, she came out to find the others waiting for her. They listened eagerly as she told them what had happened, so absorbed in what she was saying that they were completely unaware of the man who lounged in a corner, apparently busy filling out a form, but who was listening avidly to everything they said.

When they left the telephone office, this man tore up the printed form he had been filling out, and crossed to the desk.

"Get me New York City—the editor of the Morning Clarion," he said, and disappeared into the booth where Natalie had just been.

Sir Walter Scott was not entirely dependent on his writings for a living. For 25 years he was sub-sheriff, a sort of justice of Selkirkshire, and also a clerk of the court of Edinburgh, Scotland. The two positions paid him about $8,000 a year and took little of his time.

OPEN LETTERS

TO COUNCIL, MERCHANTS

GENTLEMEN: For years the problem of downtown parking has been before you. Petitions have been presented asking that parallel parking be eliminated on Main Street. Others have argued that the present system be extended to include Court Street. Also you have been fully aware of the double parking problem. Still, at your meeting Wednesday night, the hesitancy of some of you to express your opinions either for or against the issue, or to make any comment whatsoever about it, hints that either you are fearful of what others might think of your opinion or you have given so little thought to the question that you have no opinion. You have scheduled a meeting for next week, one at which you will attempt to work out some satisfactory solution to downtown parking. Before that meeting, why not do a little research and investigation, so that you may argue the situation reasonably. It will take less time and in the long run will bring better results.

TO ESSAY WINNERS

FELLOWS: To you, Gerald Reynolds, Don Wells and Ned Stout, go the honor of rating first, second and third, respectively, in the Circleville Elks essay contest. That you received cash awards was fitting, but more important both to you and to the community was the fact brought out by the text of your essays—that you have done some serious thinking on "What Uncle Sam Means to Me." Your essays indicate that you are aware of the virtues of a true democracy, freedom of speech, of the press and of religion. Now as never before it is important that you analyze carefully the extent to which those virtues exist, and that in the future you see they are not taken from you.

WORLD AT A GLANCE —By— Charles P. Stewart

WASHINGTON'S public men are unified all right on the subject of national defense. They also are predominantly unified on the subject of aid-the-democracies, though there's quite a contingent that favors keeping some more or less tight strings on it. Otherwise, however, if ever I saw a time when there was so little unity in our capital than there is today, I don't remember it.

For instance, expressed opinions as to the Charley Lindbergh case are too mixed up to make heads or tails out of.

I don't think Lindbergh generally is a popular character. Ultra-isolationists indorse his position on the administration's foreign policy, but many, even of them, say they still don't like him personally. So, when President Roosevelt, hawled him out, not many spokesmen raised their voices in defense of him. Nevertheless, quite a few, not isolationists alone, but strong supporters of the administration said he wrote a very effective message to the White House in resigning his colonel's commission in the army air corps.

They disagree with him entirely in the super-isolationistic position he takes, but their judgment is that he was entitled to argue for it. They say he undoubtedly is a violent specimen of an isolationist and an appeaser and that the President properly so described him but they don't feel that F. D. R. was justified in virtually classifying him as a traitor. They quote Voltaire, in answer to a political opponent, "I dissent from every word you say, but I'll fight to the death in defense of your right to say it."

POOR TASTE?

Sir Gerald Campbell, a minister attached to the British embassy in Washington, didn't help matters by panining Lindbergh (he didn't mention his name but it unmistakably was Charley to whom he was referring) in a speech the other night. The White House tenant's right to express himself (up to a certain point) isn't questioned, but critics, including some very loyal administrationists, remark that it was exceedingly poor taste for a Briton to break into the controversy.

It's the consensus that President Early scored handsomely with his query, "Does Lindbergh, besides resigning his colonelcy, intend to return the decoration he got from Herr Hitler?"

There also are administrationists who wish that Thomas W. Lamont of the house of Morgan had omitted the alarmist speech he recently made in Detroit. They're afraid it will revive talk of the part J. P. Morgan & Co. have so often been accused of playing in getting the United States into the last war.

And how's this for unity? G.O.P. National Chairman Joseph W. Martin, though a Republican, has declared for it emphatically. Discussing, as a newspaperman, the administration's plea for a "voluntary press censorship," he queried, "What's its object?" Then, "It's a device of political bureaucrats to cover up the waste, graft and inefficiency of national defense under the management of New Deal theorists."

Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt certainly is an administrationist. He doesn't predict that our emergency activities will cost us the "social reforms" we've effected in the last eight years," but he served warning in money a well-rounded extensive scouting program in Circleville and Pickaway County. According to information put out by Scout headquarters, 12 percent of the fund raised goes for the organization, development and promotion of council-wide activities; 25 percent is used for membership enrollment, troop organization and supervision; 19 percent for the operation and maintenance of the Central Ohio Area Council Scout reservation; 12 percent for training volunteer, educational publicity and promotion literature; 16 percent for general supervision of District and Council activities and maintaining the standards of the Boy Scouts of America; 12 percent for registration research and statistics and 4 percent for national service.

TO COUNTY ATHLETES

YOUNGSTERS: Several major events, in addition to graduation exercises, remain on the Pickaway County school schedule prior to the close of classes. One is the big track and field meet arranged for Saturday at New Holland, another is the softball tournament to be staged May 12, 13 and 16 at Commercial Point, and the other is the district baseball tournament to be conducted in Columbus. Interest in the track and field competition has been declining in the last couple of years, but from all indications there will be many athletes competing this year. A few of the schools report that they cannot get interest in track and field events stirred up because some of the youngsters have too much work to do in the spring. The softball tournament promises to be something new with six schools competing. New Holland, winner of the county basketball tournament, won the baseball championship, and is out to make a clean sweep of sports events in the Saturday track meet. Coach Don Rittenour and his athletes are to be complimented on the fine work they have done so far this year.

CIRCUITEER.

TO ALL

FRIENDS: This is a particular time of year when sickness must be combatted more carefully than at any other time. There has been an unusual amount of sickness in central Ohio this spring, and much of it can be traced to carelessness. Sudden changes in weather in the last few weeks have made colds easy to contract, and kindred ailments have been numerous. Children who have suffered from mumps or measles should be protected so that complications do not develop. I am pleased that Health Commissioner Blackburn acted without any waste of time to prevent the spread of scarlet fever in the Darby Township district where two youngsters are ill. First grade children were sent home and ordered to stay there until the danger of a spread of the illness is ended. All should take precautions to protect health at any season of the year. We should be as careful as possible at all times, because health is something very difficult to buy once it is lost.

CIRCUITEER.

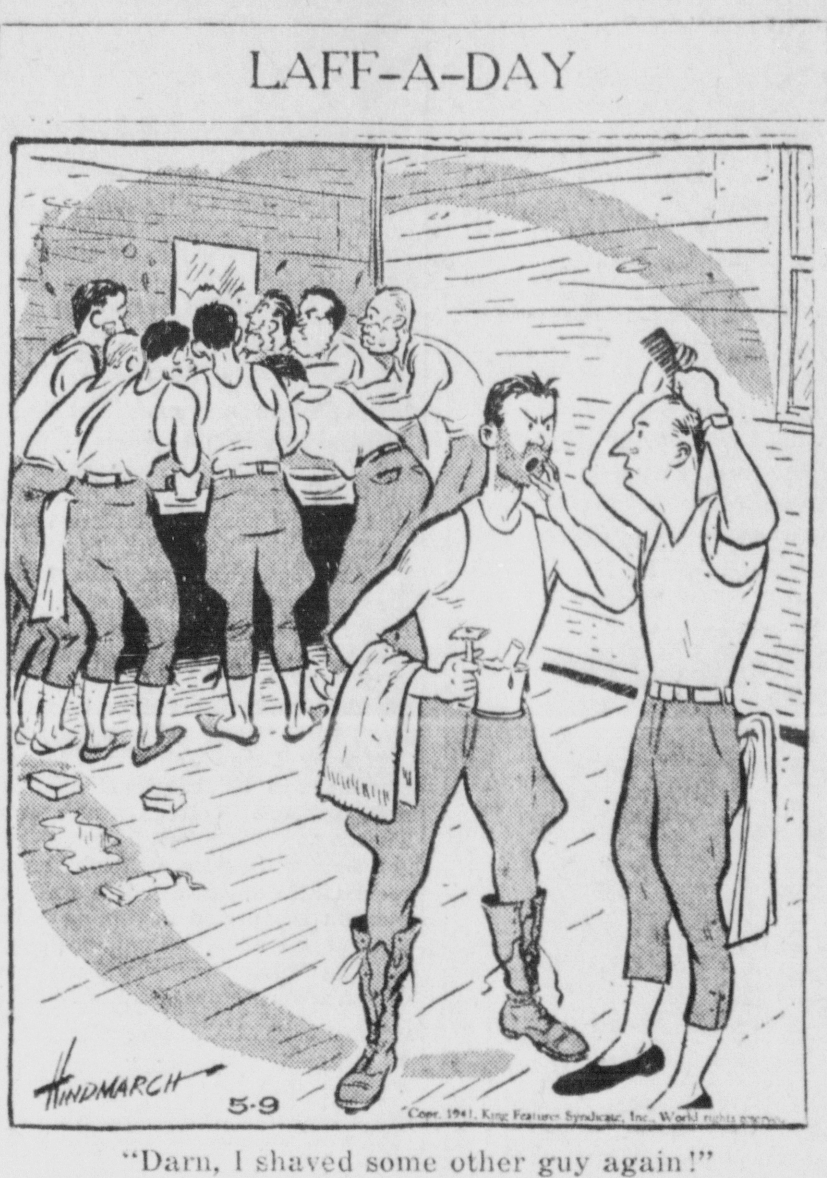

a recent talk that we mustn't let it happen. "They're democracy's cream," he declared. "I don't believe we're going to give them up—and then give our lives to defend the skimmed milk."

AND IN CONGRESS

Disunited-sounding comment is the regular thing in congress. Illustratively, a few days ago a house of representatives' committee was discussing methods for the legal acquisition of Axis ships we've commandeered in our harbors. Said Congressman Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, "It disturbs me to see us take the line that we're living in a world of burglars and night as well as burglars ourselves." Said Congressman James C. Oliver of Maine, "We take steps toward war, one by one, but haven't the nerve to declare war."

Among themselves our various defensive bureaus squabble. As a sample, considerable fault has been found with selective service for exempting or deferring so many registrants. Accordingly, it's trying to do better. Indeed, it's suggested that boys with curable physical defects be drafted for doctoring. Then, after they've been cured, as conscripted patients, they're to be militarily inducted. Now comes Director Knudsen's Office of Production Management with a loud howl that selective service is militarily grabbing so many lads that defensive industries are being crippled. OPM doesn't want SS to be so grasping. "Ten skilled tool and die makers are worth a regiment," says an OPM official.

Oh, we're united to the extent that we seem to be falling all over one another.

DIET AND HEALTH

Heat Rays for Aches

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

For spring muscle aches due to the sudden return of bodily activity, as well as many other conditions, heat by infra-red light rays is of great value. Of course, heat of any kind will help such muscular discomforts, fibrositis and stiff joints.

But when heat is applied to the human body, at any one area, the blood stream immediately does everything possible to distribute the heat to other parts of the body. Depth penetration to any one area is accomplished with the application of heat faster than the blood stream can carry the heat away. Infra-red rays penetrate the outer skins of the human body with little, if any, resistance. Reaching the flesh tissues, a resistance is set up, and while the penetration continues, the process of penetration is through conduction.

With ordinary heat applications such as warming pads, hot packs and the like, which are applied to the surface of the outer skin, it will be seen that the blood stream can carry the heat to other parts of the body quite rapidly and the good effects are often temporary.

When there is pain connected with affections of the body and the affliction is one which requires medical treatment (I refer to rheumatism, arthritis, neuritis and the like), infra-red ray treatments will do much toward relieving the pain, as the effects are soothing and numbing to the nerve ends.

Infra-red Rays

For painful congestions caused by spring chilling, it will be found that these congestions can quickly be dissipated with the application of infra-red rays. The length of time for these infra-red ray applications depends on circumstances. About forty or fifty minutes is required for a deep congestion. Remember the blood stream will distribute the heat to other parts of the body, so the treatment should be repeated every few hours.

Injuries to the body such as pulled muscles, sprains, bruises and the like are all painful depending on the extent of the injury, and, while nature has provided a method of healing, it is slow and, meantime, the pain continues. The application of infra-red rays not only soothes and numbs the nerve ends, which relieves the pain, but causes the congested blood to be absorbed and put back into the blood stream, and allows new blood and nerve supply to the injured area.

It is known that from the sun there are vibrations of many different wave lengths emitted. Beginning at the short end, they are known as they progress in length as Cosmic, Gamma, Ultra-Violet, Visible or light rays, and Infra-red, which latter are better known as heat rays. While an over-dose of the short rays can be had by over-exposure of the human body to the sun's rays, it is known that many of these short rays are screened out by foreign floating matter before reaching the earth's surface.

New forms of infra-red generator lamps are being perfected which emit vibrations of two different wave lengths at the same time and by a specially designed reflector can be concentrated on a small or large area as conditions require.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

G. J.:—"My husband has a sore on his leg about the size of a quarter. It is hard and itches extremely. It does not heal. He has had it for a long time. Ordinarily any cuts heal very quickly on him. Could you tell me what this might be?"

Answer—It is very likely to be due to bad circulation and varicose veins. It probably will not heal until the varicose veins are obliterated.

C. M.:—"My eyelashes drop out too much. Could there be a slight infection in the hair follicles due to irritation from using mascara? If so, how could I cure it?"

Answer—Any infection will cause the eyelashes to drop out and some people are sensitive to mascara. The way to stop it is to quit using mascara and put an antiseptic ointment on the eyelids at night or else touch the edges of the eyelids lightly with 10 percent alcohol, with a camel's hair brush.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE

TOM HAD felt quite sure that Morton Blake would make another offer to take over the island, following the hectic night when it had unwillingly offered refuge to the shipwrecked sailors. He knew that Hugh Powell had expected that, too, and when a week passed and Morton Blake had not been heard from, both Hugh and Tom were a little puzzled.

And then something happened that for a little while made them forget both Blake and the shipwreck. The boatman came over with the morning mail on a beautiful blue and gold day, and in the mail there was a telegram for Natalie.

They were all clustered together on the pier where they usually met for a sorting of the morning mail and the newspapers. Natalie ripped the telegram open immediately and they heard her little shocked, protesting gasp.

"Brooks," she exclaimed, "will you listen to this: it's from poor little Coralie Simpson. Something awful has happened. She says, 'Am in a terrible jam. Please get in touch with me the minute you get this. Am still in the hospital, but telephone the chief of police here. Please hurry.'"

She looked up at Brooks, bewildered.

"But—what in the world could have happened?" she stammered.

"I don't know—but you'd better get over to the mainland as quickly as possible and telephone her. How about it, old man? Will you run us over?" Brooks addressed the boatman.

"Sure—hop in," answered the man promptly. "Anybody else want to go along?"

"Let's all go, just for the ride—that is, if Brooks and Natalie don't mind," suggested Betsy eagerly.

Bill and Terry were going fishing; Major and Mrs. Edmonds begged off; but the others piled into the boat and it went racing for the mainland. On shore, somebody directed them to the small telephone exchange and Natalie put through her call.

There was a brief wait, and then a voice said, "Okay on your call to Richmond, Mrs. Marchbanks. Go ahead, Richmond."

"Hello—this Mrs. Brooks Marchbanks?" demanded a rather stern voice. "This is the chief of police at Richmond. You know anything about a man and a girl calling

The girl graduates will be entertained June 3 in St. Philip's parish house. The following committees were appointed:

Program: Mrs. Barnhill, Miss Elizabeth Drum and Mrs. Chandler.

The group planned a benefit card party for May 26 with Mrs. Campbell, Miss Good and Miss Morshausen as sponsors.

The short program on "Health" followed the outline of the State Federation.

Miss Elizabeth Drum and other members of the social committee were in charge of the delightful dinner served at 6 p. m.

Mothers Honored

A profusion of spring flowers decorated the social room of the high school Thursday when the Junior Girl Reserves entertained their mothers at the annual Mother-Daughter banquet. Sixty were present including the girls, their mothers, Miss Alice Roof, Junior Girl Reserves' adviser, and Miss Elma Rains who serves in the same capacity for the Senior Girl Reserves.

The affair was marked by presentation of awards for outstanding members. Miss Roof presenting Girl Reserve necklaces to Avenelle Bosworth, Ruth Melvin and Carolyn Herrmann of the freshman class. Patty Owens, Julia Work and Martha Pile, sophomores.

Miss Florence Dresbach, president, was presented a past president's pin, and the group gave Miss Roof an adviser's pin.

The dinner was served at 6:30 p. m. at three long tables covered in white with blue bands down the length. Large bouquets of spring flowers centered the tables which were lighted with many candles.

TIGER GOLFERS SWEEP TO 12-0 SCORE OVER FOE

Circleville High golfers gained another clean sweep victory over the Columbus University High School team Thursday in a match played on the Pickaway Country Club course. The Tigers whitewashed the Columbus team, 12-0, a couple of weeks ago on the Ohio State University Scarlet course and repeated the performance Thursday.

Local scores were: Woods, 78; Moon, 80; Gehl, 86; Ayers, 86.

KANSAS CITY NEARS TOP BY VICTORY OVER BIRDS

COLUMBUS, May 9—Kansas City was only a half-game behind the American Association leaders, the Louisville Colonels, today, thanks to Bud Metheny's home run in the tenth inning of a game with Columbus at the Missouri city yesterday.

Metheny's homer over the right-field fence gave the blues a 5 to 4 victory over the Red Birds in the only league game played. The defeat was charged to Edwin "Preacher" Roe, star of Wednesday's 13 inning no-decision game. Roe was the third Columbus hurler used, being rushed to the mound in the eighth inning when Kansas City scored four runs to overcome an early Columbus lead. Harry Brechen started for Columbus and allowed only one hit in eighth.

The loss sank the Birds into a tie for fifth place and gave the Blues undisputed possession of second place.

The other three league tilts were called off because of cold weather.

LEADING BATTERS

American: Travis, Senators 459; Heath, Indians 388; DiMaggio, Red Sox 382.
National: Slaughter, Cardinals 391; Jurgens, Giants 375; Vaughan, Pirates 373.

Dodgers Take Possession Of League's Top Berth

NEW YORK, May 9—If there is a hotter baseball town in the country today than Brooklyn we never heard of it.

The pennant fever is raging madly among the populace on the rubber plant and baby buggy side of the Brooklyn Bridge and if the Dodgers fail to get an all-time record for attendance this year it will only be because Ebbets Field can't hold as many as the Yankee Stadium.

The Dodgers closed out their successful home stand yesterday before an official attendance of 32,079—imagine that for a rainy Thursday—and sent their total attendance figures close to the 300,000 mark.

Not only that but Durocher's fair haired boys sent everybody home happy with another of their customary garrison finishes. Nobody seemed to mind the fact that a cold dinner was waiting, because, as we overheard one fat man shuckle: "Our bums are in first place now all right and they ain't nobody ever going to get them out."

It's a fact that they are in undisputed possession of first place today although we are not as optimistic as the fat man about them staying there.

Bad Throw Costly
They moved up on top by beating Mort Cooper and the Cards, 5-4, in 12 innings. Cooper deserved a better fate. He pitched a grand game and he might be pitching yet if Brown hadn't made a low throw behind him which set the stage for Lavagetto's game-winning single. The Cards chased Hamlin with a three run blast in the fourth, but they were helpless before the slants of Kemp Wicker who pitched eight flawless innings.

There was only one other game in the National League and in that one the Cubs shoved the Phillies into a 5-1 defeat. The Cub pitcher helped his own cause with a homer. There were three games in the American and in these the Yanks again topped the Indians, 5-4; the Senators again beat the Tigers 7-1 and the Athletics downed the Browns, 9-6.

Red Ruffing got credit for the Yank victory although he had to have help in the sixth, but by that time he, too, had shown that some pitchers can hit by pounding out a homer, single and double. The Indians again relied on a left hander—Al Smith—but Al didn't last long and today finds the Indians' lead cut to 2½ games. Steve Sundra held the Tigers to six hits while old Bobo Newsom again failed to go the route, leading one to wonder what's wrong with that talkative of all pitchers, Bump Hadley, the erstwhile Yank, made a more or less successful comeback with the Mackmen although he needed a little help in the ninth.

EIGHT TO RACE FOR PREAKNESS CASH SATURDAY

BALTIMORE, Md., May 9—With Anthony Pelletieri's colt Kansas added to the field, eight probable starters were listed today for running of the Preakness tomorrow.

Despite a threat of rain and a muddy track, Whirlaway, the horse that set a new record in winning the Kentucky Derby last Saturday, is expected to go to the post at even money.

Other probable starters and their odds, beside Whirlaway and Kansas, a 50 to 1 shot, are: Porter's Cap, 4-1; Our Boots, 6-1; Curious Coin, 7-1; Ocean Blue, 8-1; Dispose, 12-1; and King Cole, 20-1.

Charles S. Howard, owner of Porter's Cap and his trainer Tom Smith, predicted that the son of Porter and the Blonde will be the horse to beat if the track is muddy.

After working Porter's Cap a half mile in the fast time of 48-2/5 Jockey Leon Haas said that "he sure had his speed and he should go better, much better, over a muddy track."

Whirlaway is scheduled to be given his final "blow out" today after only being walked around the track and in the paddock for the last three days.

HEROES AND GOATS
Heroes: Kemp Wicker, Dodgers, whose eight inning relief job pitched them into first place over Cardinals Steve Sundra, Senators, who held Tigers to six hits, Vern Olsen, Cubs, who homered and pitched his team to victory over Phils.

Goats: Jim Brown, Cardinals, whose error helped Dodgers win. Elden Auker, Browns, shelled by Athletics. Al Smith, Indians, routed by Yanks Buck Newsom, Tigers routed by Senators.

O. S. U. PREVIEW MAY DRAW HUGE CROWD TO TILT

Paul Brown To Put Pair Of Teams On Field For "Contest"

By Larry Newman

COLUMBUS, May 9—A new Ohio State University coaching staff will unveil a "lean and hungry" Buckeye football team for public inspection tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in Ohio Stadium. And after the fanfare surrounding the appointment of Paul "Bucky" Brown as the Scarlet mentor, more than 25,000 fans and 400 Ohio scholastic coaches are expected to witness the debut of the new regime at the High Street institution.

The 1941 Buckeye varsity has been divided into two camps and after more than six weeks of bruising drills, the "Reds" and the "Whites" will be ordered to shoot the works for the visiting firemen. Coach Brown and his assistants—Hugh McGranahan, Carroll Widoes, Fritz Heisler, Paul Bixler, Fritz Mackey, Trevor Rees and Eddie Bickie—have worked diligently during the six-week span, installing an entirely new system from the one which died when Francis Schmidt resigned under fire a few weeks after the humiliating 40-0 defeat at the hands of a great Michigan eleven.

Not Yet Pleased

Although Brown is far from satisfied with the way his team has advanced during the spring drills, he declares:

"We have learned a lot during this practice period. The boys are ready to play 60 minutes of hard football and that's something. This practice game is going to give us a chance to measure some of the boys under fire and then we'll have a better idea just what we need before September 27 when Missouri comes to town."

Sparkling the two teams in the annual clinic game will be eight regulars from the 1940 squad, four on the "Reds" and a like number on the "Whites."

The "Reds," composed of members of the first and fourth squads, will have Capt. Jack Stephenson and Fritz Howard on the line with Tom Kinkade and Jack Graf in the secondary. While over on the "White" side Charlie Anderson and Jim Daniell are in the opening lineup at end and tackle while Dick Fisher and Johnny Hallabrin will get the call at halfback and fullback, respectively.

Three freshmen have edged their way into the varsity lineup. Lin Houston, one of Brown's products at Massillon, will hold down the right guard post while big Bob Shaw, of Fremont Ross, will start at left end. Paul Seringhaus, the "Hamilton hurricane," is the third member of the frosh duo and he is expected to do most of the running for the varsity eleven from a left halfback position.

REDLEGS IDLE AGAIN

NEW YORK, May 9—The Cincinnati Reds enjoyed a second day of rest today, their game with the New York Giants yesterday being called off because of rain. No contest for the world champions was scheduled for today.

KANSAS CITY NEARS TOP
BY VICTORY OVER BIRDS

COLUMBUS, May 9—Kansas City was only a half-game behind the American Association leaders, the Louisville Colonels, today, thanks to Bud Metheny's home run in the tenth inning of a game with Columbus at the Missouri city yesterday.

Metheny's homer over the right-field fence gave the blues a 5 to 4 victory over the Red Birds in the only league game played. The defeat was charged to Edwin "Preacher" Roe, star of Wednesday's 13 inning no-decision game. Roe was the third Columbus hurler used, being rushed to the mound in the eighth inning when Kansas City scored four runs to overcome an early Columbus lead. Harry Brecheen started for Columbus and allowed only one hit in eighth.

The loss sank the Birds into a tie for fifth place and gave the Blues undisputed possession of second place.

The other three league tilts were called off because of cold weather.

Claypool Receives Wire Seeking Appointment With Army Men

IMMELL TO HAVE ROLE

Circleville Delegation In Columbus To Confer With Governor

With opposition to the rumored proposal to place an army cantonment in northwest Ross and southwest Pickaway County growing among the farmers of Wayne, Perry and Deercreek Townships, the executive committee of the anti-cantonment group dispatched a telegram to Congressman Harold K. Claypool in Washington, late Thursday asking that he arrange an appointment for the farmer-industrialist delegation with War Department officials.

Pickaway County delegates will be Howard Orr, of the Winorr Canning Company, Circleville, and either Burl Stevenson or Ward Peck of Wayne Township. Ross County will send James R. Tootle, Phil Dunlap and Robert L. Immell.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the agricultural-industrialist group, Robert Immell of Yellowburg was named secretary replacing Mr. Stevenson, who said the press of business prevented his accepting the position. Mr. Peck was named treasurer at Thursday's meeting.

As Ross and Pickaway County farmers made advances in their anti-cantonment drive, a delegation of Circleville business men appointed by Mayor Cady was in Columbus Friday, considering plans for National Defense within the Circleville trading area.

Neither Mayor Cady nor members of the committee selected were informed concerning the nature of Friday's meeting. Mayor Cady appointed the committee after receiving a telegram from Governor John Bricker urging that the city send a delegation to the Ohio Campaign Organization meeting of United Service Organizations for National Defense. The meeting is being held at the Deshler-Wallick Hotel.

Committee members Friday indicated they were in no position to take a stand on the rumored camp site proposal, and believed before leaving for the meeting that the camp site question would not come up. Classification of labor and industry for National Defense in Circleville was expected to be considered. The Circleville delegates were Clark Will, Frank Lynch, Dan McClain, Herman Hill, Karl Hermann, Dwight Steele, Charles May and Joseph Adkins.

The "Chillicothe Citizens Committee" met with Lt. Col. Robert Ginsburgh of the War Department, Thursday, the delegates urging the War Department to utilize Camp Sherman holdings and needed additional territory as a site for the army training center. The site, according to unofficial reports, would include approximately 52,000 acres of land in Ross and Pickaway County along the west bank of the Scioto River.

INTERMITTENT RAINS MAY KEEP TEMPERATURE DOWN

Rain was expected to fall intermittently Friday and cut further the rainfall deficiency in the Pickaway County area which now totals more than six and one-half inches.

Temperature Friday morning was down to 46 after reaching a high of 68 degrees. Thursday showers added another .22 inches of rainfall to that of Tuesday and Wednesday and brought May's total to .91 inches.

Early Church Meeting Human Needs

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Newman Campbell
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for May 11 is Deut. 6:4-7; Jer. 35:5-10, the Golden Text being Prov. 22:6, "Train up a child in the way he should go. And even when he is old he will not depart from it.")

THE BOOK of Deuteronomy, from which the first part of our lesson today is taken, was written somewhere between 1450 and 1500 B. C., and the particular chapter of Jeremiah quoted in the second part of the lesson was probably composed about 604 B. C.

The entire book of Deuteronomy is devoted to the truths revealed to Israel while the nation was wandering for 40 years in the wilderness. The prophecy of Jeremiah was uttered near or in Jerusalem.

"Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord.

"And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might.

"And thou shalt teach these words diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up."

In other words, our religion, our love of our Maker should not be something we confine to Sunday when we go to church and Sunday school, but something vital to us; that we talk about in our homes; that it is a part of our daily lives. We think and speak of it when we get up in the morning and through the day, and when we sit at our dinner tables, and when we go to bed. It is the guiding principle of our lives. We love God and try to be worthy of Him and all He does for us.

Lesson on Temperance
From Jeremiah we have a fine lesson on temperance, which is the real topic of our lesson. It tells of the descendants of one Jonadab or Jehonadab, who appears elsewhere in the Bible as the ally of Jehu in the overthrow of the house of Ahab in II Kings 10:15. He is described as the "son of Rechab," but as that name means "chariot," and was applied to the great Tishbite prophet, it has been thought that the name "son of Rechab" may mean "son of the chariot."

At any rate, those sons of Rechab were taken to the house of the Lord and wine was set before them and they were invited to drink.

"But they said, We will drink no wine: for Jonadab the son of Rechab our father commanded us, saying, Ye shall drink no wine, either ye, nor your sons forever." Few are as faithful to household commands as these men. And it rarely seems enough in these days to command that sons and daughters shall abstain from drink. But the home is the place where good habits and fine principles are taught. And the parents are the ones to set the good example. If they never drink intoxicating beverages and never use such liquors, the children are much more likely to follow their example.

The home is the place where good morals are taught. A father and mother who are honest, loyal to each other and to their community and country; who are loving and sincere, truthful and upright in all their ways, will almost surely instill these qualities into their children.

No Use Being Shocked

There is no use in parents being shocked at finding that their sons and daughters lie, cheat and drink if they do these things themselves. "The hand that rocks the cradle" does "rule the world." That is not only a pretty saying. It is a great truth. If every man and woman in the world could have a happy home of loving, tolerant, highminded, just parents, the wars and all other cruelties we are witnessing would never have been.

Not only did these sons of Rechab obey their father in the matter of drinking wine, but they also lived in tents, as he bade them, and built no houses; nor did they own fields or plant vineyards or seeds. The idea seemed to be to keep this tribe free from the vices that might come from owning property or living in cities.

Our ideals no longer require us to live in tents, as our faraway ancestors did, and it is no sin to own fields and to cultivate food and flowers thereon. It is a virtue. But it is still a wise rule to refuse wine and other intoxicating beverages when they are offered, thinking of the many lives lost each year because of excessive drinking, and the wreckage of many homes.

Let us be strong for the right, and "train up our children in the way they should go, so that even when they are old, they will not depart from it."

Claypool Receives Wire Seeking Appointment With Army Men

IMMELL TO HAVE ROLE

Circleville Delegation In Columbus To Confer With Governor

With opposition to the rumored proposal to place an army cantonment in northwest Ross and southwest Pickaway County growing among the farmers of Wayne, Perry and Deer Creek Townships, the executive committee of the anti-cantonment group dispatched a telegram to Congressman Harold K. Claypool in Washington, late Thursday asking that he arrange an appointment for the farmer-industrialist delegation with War Department officials.

Pickaway County delegates will be Howard Orr, of the Winor Canning Company, Circleville, and either Burl Stevenson or Ward Peck of Wayne Township. Ross County will send James R. Tootle, Phil Dunlap and Robert L. Immell.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the agricultural-industrial group, Robert Immell of Yellowbud was named secretary replacing Mr. Stevenson, who said the press of business prevented his accepting the position. Mr. Peck was named treasurer at Thursday's meeting.

As Ross and Pickaway County farmers made advances in their anti-cantonment drive, a delegation of Circleville business men appointed by Mayor Cady was in Columbus Friday, considering plans for National Defense within the Circleville trading area.

Neither Mayor Cady nor members of the committee selected were informed concerning the nature of Friday's meeting. Mayor Cady appointed the committee after receiving a telegram from Governor John Bricker urging that the city send a delegation to the Ohio Campaign Organization meeting of United Service Organizations for National Defense. The meeting is being held at the Desler-Wallick Hotel.

Committee members Friday indicated they were in no position to take a stand on the rumored camp site proposal, and believed before leaving for the meeting that the camp site question would not come up. Classification of labor and industry for National Defense in Circleville was expected to be considered. The Circleville delegates were Clark Will, Frank Lynch, Dan McClain, Herman Hill, Karl Herrmann, Dwight Steele, Charles May and Joseph Adkins.

The "Chillicothe Citizens Committee" met with Lt. Col. Robert Ginsburgh of the War Department, Thursday, the delegates urging the War Department to utilize Camp Sherman holdings and needed additional territory as a site for the army training center. The site, according to unofficial reports, would include approximately 52,000 acres of land in Ross and Pickaway County along the west bank of the Scioto River.

INTERMITTENT RAINS MAY KEEP TEMPERATURE DOWN

Rain was expected to fall intermittently Friday and cut further the rainfall deficiency in the Pickaway County area which now totals more than six and one-half inches.

Temperature Friday morning was down to 46 after reaching a high of 68 degrees. Thursday showers added another .22 inches of rainfall to that of Tuesday and Wednesday and brought May's total to .91 inches.
